COLUMBUS DAY PARADE, AND PRESENTATION

On Columbus Day, Sunday, October 13th, 2019, Filitalia members participated to the Columbus Day Parade in Philadelphia. Filitalia was one of many Italian American organizations that celebrated C. Columbus and Italian heritage. On the same day at 3pm Filitalia Museum (1834 East Passyunk Avenue, Philadelphia) hosted a special presentation curated by Robert Petrone about the life of Columbus entitled "Christopher Columbus - The First American Founding Father & First Civil Rights Activist of the Americas." Mr. Petrone is Assistant District Attorney at the District Attorney's Office of Philadelphia, is an expert about C Columbus. He described the merits of this explorer, and why the Italian community should preserve the Columbus Day's celebration. He also praised Filitalia for defending the Italian ethnic heritage, culture and values. The landing of Christopher Columbus "began the story of immigration to America" and began the 500-year-long "Columbian Exchange," but organizations such as Filitalia and the people that comprise them are the true defenders of his legacy: the European contributions of Greco-Roman democracy and law, Judeo-Christian ethics and morals, and the tenet of equality of all mankind."

Dr. Corrado Minimo is the Chief of Anatomic Pathology and Vice Chair of the Department of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine at Albert Einstein Medical Center in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. He is the author of over one hundred medical publications, a dedicated mentor and trainer of new generations of physicians, and a respected pathologist in the healthcare community. The son of Italian immigrants from Sicily, Dr. Minimo was born in Siracusa, just after his parents had returned from a decade living in Venezuela. He received his degree in Medicine and Surgery in 1986 in Rome from the Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore, where in 1991 he also obtained his specialization degree in Pathology. He conducted research at the University of Chicago for one year, in 1993 he made his permanent move to America, settling in Philadelphia and was recognized by the United States government as an individual of extraordinary talent due to his medical research and accomplishments. His pathology training included a residency at Thomas Jefferson University in Philadelphia, two fellowships at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center in New York City, and a fellowship at the Albert Einstein Medical School in the Bronx, New York. Corrado's parents were very generous with other Italian immigrants in Venezuela, and as a consequence, they fostered in him an appreciation of the human and Christian values of solidarity and compassion toward immigrants. This has led him to help – privately and outside the official channels of recognized institutions – Italian young men and women who chose to come to the United States to explore new possibilities in both their personal and professional lives. Dr. Minimo donates his time, his experience, and his resources to help those who wish to embark on such new journeys, primarily in the fields of science, technology and the arts. His sole reward consists of seeing the fruit of his endeavors: young Italians achieving their goals and realizing their dreams.

Nicholas Rapagnani, a resident of Brookhaven, Pennsylvania immigrated from Basciano, province of Teramo (Abruzzi) with his parents and sister in 1961. As a young man, Nicholas attended Chester High School, Temple University and Drexel University graduating from the latter in 1971 with both a Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Mechanical and Nuclear Engineering. His entire professional career was spent in the Nuclear Power Industry, primarily in design, construction, and operation of many of the nuclear power plants in the United States. During his 37-year career he has held various technical and management positions with Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation, the Shaw Group and most recently with CB&I. Between 1998 and 2006 Nicholas collaborated with the Chemical Materials Agency, Army Corps of Engineers in the design, construction, systemization, and operation of the Aberdeen Chemical Agent Disposal facility. He consulted with the Japanese government regarding nuclear power plants that were damaged in the tsunami. He is a Registered Professional Engineer in many states and a Member of the American Nuclear Society and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. In 1990 Nicholas became one of the founding members of the l'Associazione Regionale Abruzzese Delco (ARAD) whose focus has been to foster the Italian language and culture in Delaware County. He has been largely responsible for the relationship that has developed between l'Associazione Regionale Abruzzese Delco with Widener University, Neumann University. With Wilmington University, ARAD has expanded Italian language teaching programs, co-sponsoring the Italian Music festivals and the Italian American Heritage Festival held at Rose Tree Park. Nick continues to include younger people in ARAD by sponsoring a soccer team and organizing bowling events. At the same time, ARAD has continued its longstanding relationship with Don Guanella Village and Italian language Masses. He is in constant communication with the office of the Italian Consulate in Philadelphia, and the government in the Abruzzo region of Italy.

NEWS FROM THE HISTORY OF ITALIAN IMMIGRATION MUSEUM (HIIM)

We encourage everyone to visit the HIIM, a unique structure among Italian American organizations, which has increased its rich collection with new exhibits:

- New Joey Eye – Boxing Legends exhibit
- Heritage records from Trentino, Italy from 17th, 18th, 19th centuries
- Authentic Barber Chair added

Greatly acknowledged are Mr. Michael Bonasera, HIIM curator and Mr. Nick Santangelo, both members of Filitalia International Board of Directors for the great amount of time they volunteer to manage and grow HIIM.

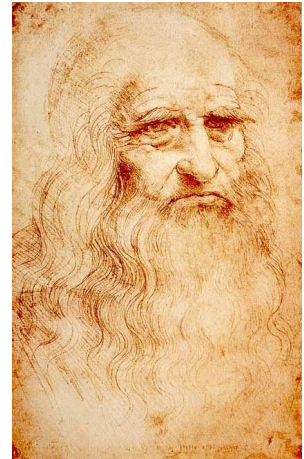

500TH ANNIVERSARY OF LEONARDO DA VINCI'S DEATH

Five hundred years ago Leonardo da Vinci died aged 67 in France. We did not want this anniversary to go unnoticed, and will only mention a few excerpts from Wikipedia about him, to give some idea of his greatness.

Leonardo was a polymath of the Renaissance whose areas of interest included invention, drawing, painting, sculpture, architecture, science, music, mathematics, engineering, literature, anatomy, geology, astronomy, botany, paleontology, and cartography.

He has been variously called the father of paleontology, iconology, and architecture, and is widely considered one of the greatest painters of all time. His painting Salvator Mundi was sold for a world record $450 million at a Christie's auction in New York, 15 November 2017, the highest price ever paid for a work of art until then. The Last Supper is the most reproduced religious painting of all time. According to art historian Helen Gardner, the scope and depth of his interests were without precedent in recorded history, and "his mind and personality seem to us superhuman".

Leonardo is revered for his technological ingenuity. He conceptualized flying machines, a type of armored fighting vehicle, concentrated solar power, an adding machine, and the double hull. Some of his smaller inventions entered the world of manufacturing unheralded, such as an automated bobbin winder and a machine for testing the tensile strength of wire. He is also sometimes credited with the inventions of the parachute, helicopter, and tank. He made substantial discoveries in anatomy, civil engineering, geology, optics, and hydrodynamics.
